Research Paper
Assignment 1
Due in EEE Dropbox by 5pm on November 16

Introduction and Literature Review

From the rubric, you’ll need the following:

State your research question - remember, a good research question will generate several models or hypotheses, and will have interesting implications. You can review the first two sections of the reader for help formulating a research question. Remember, your research question does not need to be based on anything real - you can make up some phenomenon that your research question applies to.

Two to three sentences why we should care - briefly explain why your research question is important. This is a good place to talk about possible implications of your research question.

Literature Review - you do not need to actually write a literature review. Instead, identify at least 6 sources (3 journal articles and 3 other sources) that speak to your research question and include properly APA cited references.

The following link is to a tutorial on APA citations. You should complete it sometime this week: http://www.apastyle.org/learn/tutorials/basics-tutorial.aspx

This website also has many examples of different types of citations: http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/560/01/